

THE BAHÁ'Í CHAIR FOR WORLD PEACE

The Bahá'í Chair for World Peace is delighted to share with you that the edited volume The Changing Ethos of Human Rights will be available in May, 2021.

The volume was edited by, Hoda Mahmoudi, Research Professor and Chair, The Bahá'í Chair for World Peace, University of Maryland, Alison Brysk, Distinguished Mellichamp Professor of Global Governance, University of California, Santa Barbara and Kate Seaman, Assistant Director, The Bahá'í Chair for World Peace, University of Maryland, US

A short description of the volume is provided below.

Utilizing the ethos of human rights, this insightful book captures the development of the moral imagination of these rights through history, culture, politics, and society. Moving beyond the focus on legal protections, it draws attention to the foundation and understanding of rights from theoretical, philosophical, political, psychological, and spiritual perspectives.

The book will be available from Edward Elgar Publishing, and other booksellers.